Survey in the Blackfeet Reservation in north-western Montana. The partial skeletons of five individuals were uncovered at the same time and form a most valuable addition to science. Mr. Gilmore has written a preliminary paper on the new species, published in the Smithsonian Miscellaneous Collections, and is working on the assembling of the specimens for exhibition in the National Museum.

CALIFORNIA state inspectors at San Francisco have found a new canker disease on chestnut trees recently imported from Japan. According to Dr. Haven Metcalf, the government's expert on such diseases, this appears to be of the same type as the chestnut blight which is ravaging the forests of the eastern United States, and it is possible that the new disease would be equally destructive if it became established in this country.

UNIVERSITY AND EDUCATIONAL NEWS

THE General Education Board has promised to give $750,000 to Wellesley on condition that the balance of the $2,000,000 restoration and endowment fund is completed by January 1, 1915.

It is said that one million dollars will be received by the University of Pennsylvania from the estate of Dr. Louis A. Duhring, for many years professor of dermatology. At the time of his death on May 8, 1913, his bequest was estimated at only $400,000.
